MONDAY MORNING, JANUARY 7, 1807.

LOCAL MATTERS. To our Subscribers .- We would call the atter tion of those who are indebted to us throughout the country, that the old year is closing and their accounts are not yet settled. The price of subscription is not large, and will not be missed from their plethoric pockets. The first of January has long been celebrated as a day set apart for closing old accounts, and we would not have our friends depart from this time-changed custom. Money is depart from this time-honored custom. Money is the motive power of every enterprise, and news-papers are no exception, and we respectfully ask our country subscribers to cash up and commence Coboner's Inquest.—Magistra'e Kanapaux was called upon yesterday to hold an inquest over the body of Guy Inglis (colored), aged 75 years, on the premises of ____, Berresford street. The verdict of the jury was that he came to his death from old age and general debility.

Interesting Ceremony.-By virtue of a specia nsation from the R. W. Grand Master, a pub stallation of the officers of Schiller Lodge he installation of the olineers of Schuler Lodge, No. 39, I. O. O. F., took place last ovening. As a public display of this character is very rars, and the interior of the hall known only to the initiated, a large audience availed themselves of the opportunity, and the spacious auditorium was soon filled. The installation was performed by R. W. Grand Master R. S. Duryea, assisted by the Grand Lodge, and the ceremony was both novel and imposing to those who were unacquainted with the mysteries of Odd Fellowship, and to whom the hall had been heretofore inaccessible.

THE STRIKE AGAIN.—The colored stevedore feeling satisfied with their conduct were naturally disgusted with those base minds that would stoop to work at the old rates. Their anger wamp het the more they debated the question, they finally made a foray on the different wharves yesterday and captured those who differed from them and forcibly precented a further continuance of work. This warflike manosuvre will not improve their cause, and they will find that their high-handed measures will redound to their own disadvantage. The temporary inconvenience occasioned by this movement will soon be obliterated, as the merchants and shipowners of Charleston are too cense getic to allow it to interfere with their business, and are fully capable to resist all unjust demands. feeling satisfied with their conduct were naturally Maron's Court, January 5.—David Brown, a gay and festire "cullud gemman," who had imbibed such a quantity of the real "knock knee," that in staggering along the street, he "fotched up" against a lady, was fixed $5.

A sailor, who was found lying down on the wharf, and looking upwards for the Boston boat, was made to pay $3 for being taken care of.

John Dubose, a dark complexioned youth, who had been sent to the Guard House for attempting to steal a bale of cotton from the South Carolina Railroad, was about being turned over to a Magistrate for prosecution, when the Mayor received a message from an officer of the company desiring that the prisoner be discharged and allowed to go on to Florida, to which State he was proceeding when he committed the act. His Honor, after some reflection, acquiesced in the request, but was of the opinion that such a course of proceeding did not aid him much in putting down offences of this nature.

The Northeast Passage—The section of our city lying towards that point of the compass, is at present in a deplorable plight; and if the locality of the various fords is not known, it is a hazardous experiment to essay a crossing. Unless speedy action is taken, the little ground left will be swept away, and it will be necessary to charter a ferry-boat in order to communicate with the different pavements (?). This is especially the case at the corner of Reid and Hanover and in the neighborhood of Amheret streets. Chustrian's Slough of Despond was a mere trifle to the bog that, huge, dark and slimy, overywhere meets the eye.

Tradition states that there was once a drain in that neighborhood, but it is only from the records of the Aborigines that we receive any anthentic secount of such an institution. It has long been lost in the cosan of mud that now covers the spot, but a research and exhumation would not only rejoice the antiquarian; but would benefit the community. In addition to other ovils, the tide, which has been said to wait for no man, acts up to the city lying towards that point of the compass, is a munity. In addition to other evils, the tide, which has been said to wait for no man, acts up to the proverb, and marches in boldly twice a day; but if said tide were taken at the ebb, a determined body of men could soon put a stop to his triumphant progress, and, by a little judicious labor, restore this neglected region to a passable condition.

At the present time, and during the continuance of the late deluge, the inhabitants of that section have hung their blacking brushes on the poison-berry trees, for a shine soon becomes of the earth earthy, and passes quickly away. In their distress and perplexity they have lifted up their voices, and have requested the City Fathers to rescue them from a muddy grave, and to save their shoes from reproach. And their petitioners will ever pray, &c.

WE EXTRACT from the Abbeville Banner, of last

Wednesday, the following tribute to a gentleman well known in our community as a faithful and de-voted minister, and kind and excellent friend. TESTIMONIAL OF BESPECT TO REV. BENJ. JOHNSO At z meeting of the Vestry of Trinity Church, Abbeville, held on the 24th December, 1866, the following preamble and resolutions were unani-mously adopted: Whereas our esteemed Ractor, the Park Park rollowing preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas our esteemed Rector, the Rev. Renjamin Johnson, has received a call to Milledgeville, Georgia, and he has deemed it his duty to accept this invitation to a larger field of usefulness; and whereas he has been with us for the last eleven years—eventful years in the history of our little Church as in that of our country—faithfully and tenderly ministering to those around him in sickness and in health, in adversity as in prosperity, and amidst the horrors of war as well as in peace. We feel that we cannot consent that he should separate from us without giving some faint expression of our regret at his departure, and our opinion of him as a man, a Christian and a minister. Therefore,

Resolved That while we regret to lose our friend and brother, the Rev. Mr. Johnson, as our spiritual guide and rector, believing it to be a matter proper for his own decision as to where he can be most useful in his high vocation, we accept his resignation, and wish him and his family God speed among new friends and in a wider field of usefulness.

most useful in his high rocanon, we accept his resignation, and wish him and his family God speed among new friends and in a wider field of usefulness.

Resolved. That whilst we thus humbly acquiesce in this result, our hearts are not insensible to the rupture of many social ties and tender memories growing out of kindly intercourse in the confidential relation of rector and parishioners, which has attended over a number of year—including periods of unusual misfortunes and so.rows.

Resolved. That Mr. Johnson is entitled to our thanks for the fidelity and ability, perseverance and zeal, with which be has discharged his pastoral duties; and to our affectionate regard for the singular modesty and simplicity of his manners, and the purity and unselfishness c. his life and character since he has been among us.

Resolved. That in the opinion of this Vestry, the interest of the Episcopal Church in Abbeville District has been greatly promoted by the exertions and example of Mr. Johnson—his Christian liberality activity the entergore of coldness, his modest simplicity correcting the opinion of mere formalism, and his catholic piety commanding the respect and winning the selection of Christians of all denominations.

Resolved. That, in the copinion of this Vestry, it will be difficult to fill the place of Mr. Johnson, to whom this Parish is indebted, not only for his constant course of modest worth as a gentleman and judicious liberality as a Christian minister, but for his funtiring exertions in building our beautiful Trinity Clurch, and ornamenting its grounds, which will stand a lasting testimony of his energy and taste, and a monum ut of his devotion to the interest of the Church.

Resolved, That in this preamble and resolutions be entered upon the minutes of this Vestry, and that a copy be given to Mr. Johnson, and another forwarded to St. Stephen's Church, Milledgeville, Ga. as a simple testimonal from his later.

Resolved, That the foregoing preamble ard resolutions be published in the papers of the District.

d. That the foregoing preamble at d reacpublished in the papers of the District.

THE EPIPHANY OR TWELFTH DAY.—The 6th of snuary, or "Twelfth Day," is so called, being the twelfth from Christmas, and Epiphany from the weath from the meaning appearance. It has been from the earliest ages a festival of the Church in commomoration of the manifestation of Christ to the three Magi or wise men of the East. The Epi-phany was first observed as a separate feast about the year $13, but the primitive Christians observed the Feasts of the Nativity and Epiphany as early une year 512, but the primitive Christians observed the Feasts of the Nativity and Epiphany as carly as the fourth century.

To render due honor to the memory of the Maginthe middle ages, their worship was colebrated by a little drams called the "Feast of the Star." This was performed by the priests and their attendants in their different Churches, and was considered at that time an interesting and imposing spectacle. At Milan, in 1336, the "Festival of the Three Kings" was celebrated by the Praching Friars in a manner peculiar to that age. The three kings appeared on three horses richly caparisoned, and surrounded by pages, body-guards, and other retinue. After parading through the principal streets they proceeded to the Church of St. Enstorgies, where in a manger was the infant Christ and his mother. Here the three kings offered their gifts. An immense concourse of the people, knights, ladies, and ecclesiastics, attended this coremony.

In modern days, especially m England, 12th day fered their gifts. An immense concourse of the people, knights, ladies, and ecclesisatics, attended this ceremony.

In modern days, especially in England, 12th day stands only inferior to Christmas as a popular festival, but is celebrated in an entirely different style from the past. Amoug other amissements on that day was the 12th cake; this was a large cake formed with a bean inserted; the cake was divide by lot, and whoever obtained the piece containing the bean was accepted as the King of the day, and called the King of the Bean. Besides this, a number of joerlarities, games and amissements are played; but the practice of observing the day is gradually becoming obsolete except in those countries which still preserve a fondness for old customs. Formerly, monarchs took a part in these games, and cases are on record where Marriqueen of Scots, resigned her throne for the day to the more fortunate Queen of the Bean.

Down to the time of the Civil Wars of England, the feast was observed with great splendor, not only at Court, but at the universities and elsewhere. The Furitan element which then got the ascendancy, frowned so contemptuously on such profane amissements, that they have never been restored to popular favor to the same extent. It is now merely a Church Festival, and only observed by the Episcopal and Catholic Churches.

The period of Carnival (named as a farewall to first) begins on Epiphany and ends on Ash Wednesday; this is observed in Roman Catholic countries, but particularly at Rome and Paris, as a time of merry-making and pleasure. In modern Rome, the masquerading in the streets and all out-door amusements are limited to eight days; in Paris the time is much shorter. The only places in this country where the Carnival is observed to any extent, are Canada and the city of New Orleans.

THE STATE NORMAL AND HIGH SCHOOL .- This THE STATE NORMAL AND HIGH SCHOOL.—This noble institution was reopened last Wednesday for the reception of pupils, after a long but unavoidable interruption. The Normal School before the war, and during the years of its early progress, stood first in the State among the female institutions of learning, and many are the teachers that were fitted here for their responsible calling. Under the able and experienced guidance of Mr. Mood, the present principal, we have no heritation in prophesying a brilliant future for the Normal School.

THE BINOPTRIC LANTERN AT TRINITY CHURCH.— These interesting exhibitions, which have been postponed for some time on account of the inclepostponed for some time on account of the inclement weather, will positively take place to-morrow afternoon at Trinity Church. When these view. were exhibited in the College Chapel, they pleased and entertained andiences, and when it is known that the ultimate object of the present performance is charity, that and the small price of admission charged will attract many who still remember their past visit with delight.

ment of Mr. E. C. Holland, Agent for North and South Commercial Wharves, which appears in our issue of to-day. It will be seen that a most important reduction has been made on the present charges for wharfage, and that the rate for Upland Cotton will be 25 cents per bale per month, instead of 50 cents, as at present; 40 cents per bale for Sea Island, instead of 75 cents; for Ricc 24 cents per tierce per routh, instead of 40 cents, and other charges to be in proportion.

This property consists of two fine piers extending into Cooper Biver, which have lately been paced in superior order, with convenient and well constructed warehouses, and every arrangement suitable for the transaction of a general wharfage and storage business.

The Commercial Wharves were the depots for a large business before the war, and under the management of Mr. Holland, who is a skillful and long experienced manager of wharf property, its old patronage should be largely exceeded.

THE CHARLESTON HOUSE.—The energotic probe up with the times, and in order to be up to the mark they have marked down several styles of goods. These, consisting of dress goods and other articles, all entirely in season and of the best qualities, they now offer to their numerous friends and the public at greatly reduced rates. Bargains are always eagerly sought out by the ladies who, we predict, will soon throng Messrs. Stoll, Webb & Co.'s extensive store, and reduce their piles of goods considerably. AN OLD HOUSE WITH A NEW NAME .- Messrs. Mone & Dowie, we learn from their advertisement, succeed the well known house of King & Cassider, Mr. Mones has long been in the drug business in this city, and is thoroughly acquainted with all its mysteries. He was with King & Cassider during the entire time they did business in this city, and is, therefore, well known to all their old customers. Mr. Dowie, formerly of the drug house of Rupr & Dowie, has a large circle of friends in every State of the South and West, who will feel gratified to learn that he can be found at his old post again. Moise & Dowie, we learn from their advertisewill feel gratined to learn that he can be found at list of post again. Success to our friends. We have the leas hesitation in expressing this wish, as they sell other things besides calomel and jalan, and a good business in their part head not be because of a sickly season to the community.

Mes. A. N. Pinkind.—We would ask the atten tion of our readers to the card of this lady, who proposes to give instruction on the piano, violin and guitar, as well as in vocal music. Mrs. P. is the accomplished lady whose performances on the violin, at the recent musical soirce at the Hibernian Hall, elicited such enthusiastic applause.
